p2c - Turn your ideas into products

p2c Conference products2come offers experts from academia and industry a unique opportunity to present their close-to-market research and development findings in 10-minute talks. For decision-makers, leading business developers, technology scouts and investors, p2c provides an efficient new way to screen latest offers to round off their product lines. Two of our inventors will present their research in 20-minute-presentations.

Online Partnering p2c partnering enables you to selectively arrange meetings prior to the p2c event. On the basis of our offers/requests for your discoveries (technologies, processes, products, licenses, financing), it is easy to identify, contact and invite potential cooperation partners to an online meeting.
